Running a 3000ft run in under 8 minutes: This youngster made it to the top of the podium, as a 14-year-old, and is looking to break the record, on his next attempt on Saturday. His plan was to complete the three-mile race, a distance that would have taken him more than 30 minutes to complete 10 years ago. In the run, you will learn some basic methods and techniques for running more, better, and without pain. For example, we will go over the hip flexor muscles, metatarsal bone, and other areas of muscles to make sure we're as smooth as silk, ready to run for miles without pain. Flexibility and condition. Most runners need a good shuteye and a great warm-up before hitting the road, but we'll help you to get the timing of a champion. We will teach you how to build or maintain your basic running form. We have run over 40 miles and over many miles and found that these methods help prevent injury and pain and make it easy to get back into your stride should an injury arise. Endurance athletes and those who want to meet their own personal bests need to know
