While Photoshop is usually considered a desktop program, it's also available as a web-based program and even a mobile phone app. History While Photoshop can trace its origins to 1984, it wasn't until 1987 when the program went public that it began to become a household name. From the 1990s until the dawn of the 21st century, Photoshop became the industry standard image-editing software. It's been around for so long that its name has become a verb, meaning to manipulate or alter an image with Photoshop. A photo is only as good as the image editing process that goes into it. – Scott Sibarium, Adobe Photoshop Advisor

Because so many professionals and amateurs rely on Photoshop to enhance images, many advertising agencies and photography studios use Photoshop to produce high-quality images. With many professional-level tutorials on the market, it's never been easier to start using Photoshop. What Is Photoshop? To know that you're using Photoshop, you must first download the software, create a new image, and view that image in Photoshop. If you're a newbie, you may want to download a free version such as the Standard Edition for desktop computers or the Photoshop Elements for portable devices. Other versions of the software may be more suited to large or professional users, but it's a good idea to learn the basics with the Standard Edition, which may also be found with a version called Photoshop CS1 or Photoshop Elements 7. Seminole High School (Florida) Seminole High School, also known as Seminole Community High School, is located in Altamonte Springs, Florida in Seminole County. The current principal is Todd Hargrove. The school serves students in grades 9 through 12. Seminole High School enrolls students from Seminole Charter School, Seminole Christian Academy, and Miles-Apollo High School. History Seminole High School was established in 1948. The first principal was Mrs. E.G. Heil. The original school building was located at 117 S. Colorado Avenue. The school was located in a combination of one- and two-room wooden structures which were constructed in the late 1940s and early 1950s. The first graduating class was in the summer of 1950. The original graduating class consisted of ten students. In the late 1950s and the early 1960s students attended school at the Brooks Junior High School, part of the Brooksville Community School District. The Brooksville Junior High School was located about a mile from the Seminole Community High School. Brooks Junior High School was phased out as the high school relocated to the

Brooksville High School campus. The Brooksville Elementary School was moved from the Brooks Junior High School complex and relocated to the Seminole High School complex. Brooks Junior High School was eventually combined with the Seminole County Middle School. During the summer of 1970 the original old wooden buildings were torn down and replaced with newer steel buildings, including the cafeteria and two classrooms on the north side of the school. In the early 1980s the cafeteria and several classrooms were replaced with a brand new two-story brick building. This newer structure became known as "Quad 1". By the summer of 1984 the school was once again made aware of a new construction project. The new project, with a scheduled completion date of September, 1984, was to replace the older two-story brick building with a new state-of-the-art two-story brick building. The new school was to also have a cafeteria and new classrooms. The new structure was to replace the older two-story wooden building and merge into the Seminole High School complex. The new construction project's cost was in excess of five million dollars. The new Seminole High School was built by the Jensen Construction Company and was completed on schedule. [Prosthetic arthroplasty of the hip--implants of different designs and materials]. The most recent development in implant design and materials is represented by biodegradable implants. Biodegradable implants consist of a biocompatible polymer (polymer matrix) filled with biodegradable substances (biomaterials). These substances are released gradually and tissue ingrowth is stimulated. Advantages of this technique are reduction in size of the prosthesis (inflow of blood and introduction of osteoblasts), extended scope of indications (low-risk patients). However, biodegradable implants cannot be used for large defect areas, since these implants show dissolution for a short time only. In contrast to biodegradable implants, metal implants are permanently present in the organism and offer the possibility of substitution due to the high biocompatibility of metal (e.g. alloy of cobalt). Metal implants should be replaced by biocompatible metal prostheses, which, however, require the disadvantage of a significantly larger surface and with that the necessity of a much larger incision of the skin.

Additionally, in clinical application metal implants must be coated to avoid metal sensitization. Biodegradable metal implants are a very promising approach and should be evaluated further in the future.

Q: swift reading nil value from api response I am returning value from api. If response is success then value of key is "00". But if value is nil then returning nil value. here is my response { "result": { "errors": [], "pairs": [{ "code": "00", "name": "500" }], "totalCount": 1 }, "success": true } I am getting nil value if value is nil.
